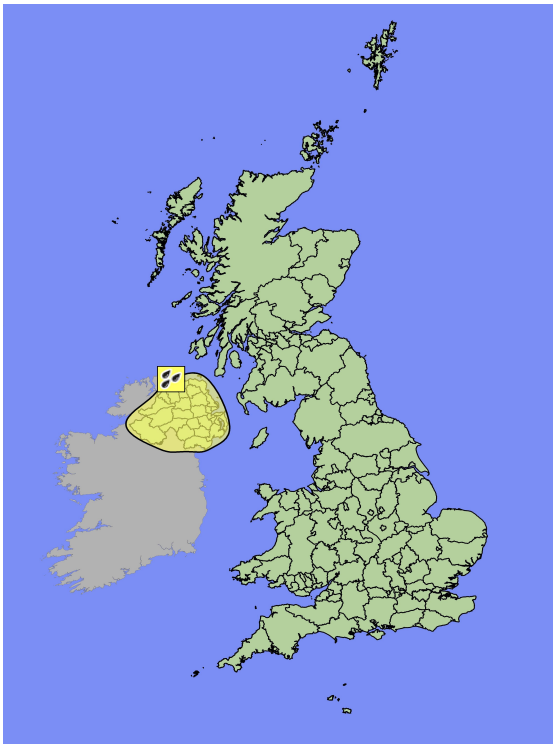
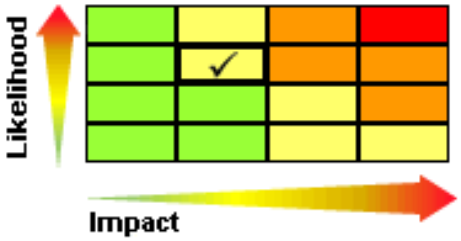
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An area of low pressure will become centred over Northern Ireland during Thursday, with early rain clearing, to allow the development of heavy showers and some thunderstorms with a risk of hail. Not everywhere will be affected by these downpours, but where they do occur, they will be slow moving, leading to a risk of surface water flooding.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 06:00 on Thu, 07th Jul 2011 until 21:00 on Thu, 07th Jul 2011

Heavy and slow moving showers will affect Northern Ireland through much of Thursday. Accumulations of 15 to 20 mm of rain are likely in a short period of time.
